1. Introduction [10.5pt.(b)/1line.]

English paper contributors should read the notice for authors prior to reading this document. This document contains the additional instructions for preparing the camera-ready form of English manuscripts. Please follow these instructions carefully to ensure that the publication of your paper is as swift as possible. Manuscript will be returned to the authors with a set of instructions if they are not presented according to these instructions. [10.5pt./ 1line.]

2. Page size

The manuscript must be printed on one side of plain white A4 (210 mm x 297 mm) sheets with a top and bottom margin of 23 mm and 25 mm wide respectively, and a left and right margin of 19.5 mm wide. The paper title, the author's name, the affiliation and the abstract, and the dates received and accepted should be written on the first page in single-column format. The text content should be written in double-column format with a column width of 22 characters and a column spacing of 2 characters. Page number should be indicated on the upper lower right margin of each page. If a large blank space is left at the end of the final page, it is recommended to shorten the article length so that it fits in the preceding pages.

3. Font

3-1 Century is recommended.

In this document, the font size and the line spacing are shown as [font size/line spacing] or [font size]. The style of font such as boldface (b) and italic (i) is shown, for example, as [10.5pt.

(b)]. Every words in the paper title should be capitalized except for articles, prepositions and conjunctions. The first words of the headings and subheadings should be capitalized as well.

3-2 Organization

The paper title, the author's name, and the affiliation should be centered. The abstract should have full justification. The dates received and accepted should be written at the end of the abstract on the right-hand side of the separate line. The text should have full justification. At the end of the paper, the paper title, the author's name, the affiliation and the abstract should be written in Japanese. Similarly, the dates received and accepted should be written in Japanese.

3-3 Headings and subheadings

Sections should be given Arabic numbers with subsections numbered using the decimal system as is shown in this manual. This numbering system should not be applied to Acknowledgement and References. A blank line should be placed before the heading line and should not be placed before the subheading line.

4. Mathematics and units

Vectors and tensors should be set in boldface italic. Symbols for scalar quantities should be set in italic. The functions such as sin, exp, etc. should be set in roman type and a space should be placed between the function and the argument. A space should be placed on both sides of mathematical signs such as +, =, <, etc. Equation should be numbered consecutively with Arabic numerals in parentheses on the right-hand side of the page. Equations should be cited in the main text as equation 1, equation 2, etc.

Units should be set in roman type and a space should be placed between the number and the unit.

5. Illustrations and tables

Illustrations and tables should be fitted to single- or double-column width. All illustrations and photographs should be numbered consecutively in Arabic numerals as Fig. 1, Fig.

2, etc. Similarly, the tables should be numbered as Table 1, Table 2, etc. A caption should be given below each illustration. A short informative title should be given above each table. The figure captions and the table titles in single-lines should be centered. If they extend over several lines, they should have full justification, headed by the figure and table numbers. Avoid the use of vertical rules in the table. Footnotes to tables should be typed below the table, and should be referred to by superscript letters such as ^{a)}, ^{b)}, etc. A blank line should be placed between the main text and the illustration or the table.

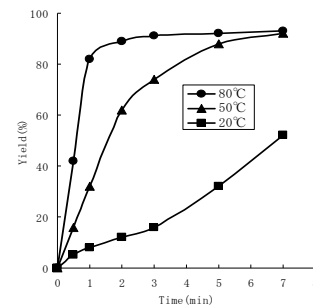

Fig. 1 Figure caption should be given below the figure. [9pt.]
